

Detroit Pollution Control Outlined; Cost 100 MillionsMarquette Sewage Plant Delayed Until 1952

Lansing, Aug. 18 (AP)—A plan for pollution control, that would cost the Detroit Metropolitan area more than $100,000,000 was under consideration by the State Stream Control Commission today.

The plan would call for the banning of all so-called combined relief sewer systems. Applications for the construction of combined type sewers would be withheld until plans included means of settling, swimming and chlorinating wastes before their discharge.

Acting on other matters the commission:

Gave the city of Marquette until 1952 to construct a sewage disposal plant. The commission said that before that time the state would be called upon to appropriate funds for pollution control at the Marquette branch and at the Northern Michigan College of Education.

Filed notice asking the city of Marquette to reply on what steps it planned to take to curb pollution there.

Atomic Commission Has Labor TroublesWorkmen Dissatisfied On Two Big Projects

Los Alamos, N. H., Aug. 18 (AP)—Labor troubles plagued the Atomic Energy commission today both here and at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., project.

Almost 100 electricians are on strike at Oak Ridge. A walkout of A. F. of L. building trades union members is threatened here.

Los Alamos carpenters, plumbers, plasterers, teamsters and common laborers have been holding a series of meetings at which they expressed dissatisfaction with a construction company which they say has refused to negotiate with their unions.

Sam Williams, business agent for the Albuquerque Building Trades Council, said there was "sentiment among the men for a work stoppage."

Officials of the construction firm, Brown Root Contracting Co., said any commitment must come from their headquarters, the office. The company has employed about 200 men here for three months.

The Oak Ridge project has been without electrical maintenance service since the electricians quit at the end of July.

Roane-Anderson Co., which operates the Oak Ridge Utilities, said all 30 linemen and 69 building maintenance electricians had walked out because the company awarded a competitive sub-contract to another contractor.

State Will Offer Bargains in Whisky

Lansing, Aug. 18 (AP)—The state liquor control commission will open a bargain sale of liquors, including Scotch whisky, on Oct. 1 with an eye on the Christmas trade.

The commission said it would sell 3,997 cases of spirit blend whisky, Scotch, imported wines and prepared cocktails, all listed as "slow-moving items."

Eight Scotch brands will be reduced to $4.95 a fifth and a ninth to $5.50, reductions of 81 cents to $1.90 a bottle.

Hobby Shop Pistol Used To Kill Wife

Atlanta, Aug. 18 (AP)—A chain store employee murdered his estranged wife and then committed suicide last night, using a pistol stolen from a hobby shop window, police reported.

Sgt. J. P. Eades said P. H. White, 40, summoned his wife to his hotel room by telephone and then, when the mother of his three-year-old daughter Patricia appeared in the hallway, shot her twice.

Mother Takes Off To Encircle GlobeHusband Is Baby-Sitter For Next Six Weeks

Cambridge, Eng., Aug. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, 24, an ex-artists model, left her husband baby-sitting with their 18-month-old daughter today and took off on a projected round-the-world flight. She is flying a single-engine plane.

Accompanying her is Michael Townsend, 25, a Cambridge student and former member of the Royal Air Force, who will do the navigating on the trip, which they expect to complete in about six weeks. Their plane is a 208-horsepower ship used as a communications craft by the RAF during the war.

Their route calls for stops in France, Sardinia, North Africa, Iraq, Bahrain, Arabia, India, Burma, Siam, Indochina, China, Japan, the Aleutians, Alaska, Whitehorse, St. John, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg, North Bay, Montreal, Gander, Greenland, Iceland and Scotland.

With extra tanks, the plane has a fuel capacity of 136 gallons, or enough for about 1,850 miles at a time. Ambitious to be the first woman to circle the world in a light plane, Mrs. Morrow-Tait said she was confident she would make it. All the same, she carried at least six lucky charms, including two four-leaf clovers.

Her husband and daughter, Anna, watched the takeoff.

Stored Ammunition Explodes; 800 Swiss Evacuate Village

Aldorf, Switzerland, Aug. 18 (AP)—All 800 inhabitants were evacuated from the village of Gossenen today when fire in a nearby mountain redoubt began exploding stored ammunition.

Aldorf police said no casualties had been reported, but telephone communications with the village, at the north end of the St. Gotthard tunnel, were broken.

Rail traffic was halted on both sides of the Swiss-Italian frontier and was rerouted through the Simplon tunnel.

Cubans Fire Shots At Soviet Embassy

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 18 (AP)—Police reported today that unidentified persons fired several shots late last night at the Russian embassy in suburban Vedado. Police said the assailants also hurled a bottle of inflammable liquid into the embassy garden.

Newberry Girl Queen Of Fair

Miss Nancy Carol Johnson of Newberry, who last year was chosen Queen of the North at a winter festival in Marquette, has been selected by judges to reign as queen of the U. P. State Fair.

Miss Johnson, a pretty blonde, competed with 23 other candidates for the title of Fair Queen. The selection was announced last night from the fairgrounds grandstand.

The queen, in addition to reigning here and serving as hostess for all festivities during fair week, will travel by plane to the Michigan state fair in Detroit, and enjoy a weeks vacation at Blaney park, along with other awards.

Judging in the contest was by Anna E. Mangle who writes under the name of Mae Tinee for the Chicago Tribune. Margo Bortoff, who writes as Margo Parish for Time-Life magazines, and Mrs. J. B. Randall, vice-president of Badger Green Bay business college. Judging was based on natural

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—A threatened strike of 60,000 CIO seamen was averted early today by an agreement with 42 Atlantic and Gulf Coast shipping companies for retention of union "hiring halls" and for pay increases.

The hiring halls—in which the union picks men for jobs—had been the main issue in dispute between the operators and the National Maritime Union (CIO) in lengthy bargaining.

The agreement—subject to ratification by the union membership—was reached at 2:15 a. m. (EST) after an eleven-hour session of negotiating committees of the NMU and the ship owners.

A strike had been threatened for after Sept. 2, when federal court cooling-off injunctions expire.

The agreement gives boatowners a wage increase of $25 a month and other ratings and increase of $12.50 a month.

It provides that the status quo on the hiring halls shall be preserved until a court of "competent jurisdiction" determines whether the hiring system is legal under the Taft-Hartley act. The operators have contended the act bans the system.

CANOIST DROWNS
Brighton, Mich., Aug. 18 (AP)—Leonard Treewin, 17, of Detroit drowned last night in Island Lake near here when his canoe overturned. His three companions swam to shore.

Big Car Auto Races Feature Grandstand Program TomorrowLargest Crowd Of Week Expected For Show

Thursday is Escanaba Day at the Upper Peninsula State Fair and local stores will close at noon Thursday to permit their staffs to attend the fair.

An exceptional program has been arranged for Thursday, which also is 4-H club day, and the largest crowd of the week is anticipated at the fairgrounds if weather conditions are favorable.

The grandstand feature Thursday afternoon is the national championship IMCA big car auto race, at which about 16 of the world's best drivers in the speediest auto races in America will compete for cash prizes. The races will get under way shortly after 1:30 o'clock. The state fair grandstand vaudeville acts will also be presented in the afternoon.

Big Grandstand Show
The Manhattan Jamboree, featuring the Averyette precision dancers and the Donna Parker singers, will make its third presentation Thursday night at the grandstand, together with the grandstand acts.

The individual contest in the U. P. State Fair pistol tournament will be held Thursday morning at the pistol range, under the direction of Cpl. Lester Coykendall of the State Police. Cpl. Coykendall also will present a demonstration of pistol shooting.

Rain washed out the opening afternoon program at the fairgrounds Tuesday but the evening program went on as scheduled, despite a delay because of a blown transformer.

European Refugees Flee From SovietsTwo Parties Cross Ocean In Small Vessels

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 18 (AP)—Two more parties of European refugees have arrived in the new world after perilous crossings of the Atlantic in small vessels.

Seventy-five Estonians and Poles arrived in St. John's late last night aboard the 63-ton vessel Ostervag, after navigating from Stormoway, Scotland, by watch, compass and an old-fashioned sextant. The crossing took 12 days.

Another group of 15 Estonians dropped anchor off North Carolina after an eight-week crossing in an auxiliary fishing craft.

The Ostervag party made the trip against the advice of mariners and customs officials in Scotland who cleared the ship only for Sweden, whence it originally sailed.

One passenger said he had quit a good job in Sweden because of fear the Russians would order the Swedes to hand over Poles and Estonians, whom they now consider to be Soviet citizens.

The Ostervag carried 15 children. It is believed the party will follow the course of the Estonian motor fishing boat Astrid which arrived in Quebec Saturday with 29 Estonians after stopping off here. The Astrid left Stormoway July 17.

Pendergast Machine Regains Control Of County In Missouri

Kansas City, Aug. 18 (AP)—Control of the Jackson county Democratic committee was back in the hands of the Pendergast political organization today.

The organization is headed by Jim Pendergast. He inherited it on the death of his uncle, Boss Tom Pendergast, whose faction dominated Missouri politics for years.

The test of Pendergast's strength in the committee came yesterday in electing a committee chairman. A Pendergast-backed candidate, Leo T. Schwartz, defeated Ralph M. Russell, 30 votes to 26. Russell was supported by factional opponents of Pendergast.

HURT BY STRAY BULLET

Detroit, (AP)—A stray bullet which police believe was fired by children aiming at pigeons seriously injured 21-year-old war veteran Lee Dietz Tuesday. He was taken to Receiving hospital. Where attendants said he might lose the sight of his right eye.

Russia May Be Asked To Oust ConsulSoviet School Closing Puzzles Washington

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—The United States may ask Russia to recall Yakov M. Lomakin as consul general in New York because of his role in the Kosenkina case.

Officials said a precise decision remains to be made, however, after the state department completes its study of New York police reports of the refugee school teacher's activities.

Meanwhile, diplomatic authorities are puzzling over indications that the Soviet Union is closing all the schools it had operated in many countries for the children of its diplomats and other employees abroad.

It was in connection with the closing of such a school in New York that Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and her colleagues, Mr. and Mrs. Mikhail Samarin, decided they would prefer to stay in this country rather than go back to Russia.

But on July 31 more than 300 Soviet citizens—mostly school age children and their mothers—did sail from New York on the Russian motor ship Pobeda. Authorities here assume that a similar return to Russia is being required by the Soviet government of many hundreds of dependents of Russian diplomats and other employees around the world.

The Russian motive in all this is what has official Washington puzzled.

Spy Hunters Link Official With Red

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Congressional spy hunters pointed jubilantly today to a 1934-35 link between Alger Hiss, former state department official, and Whittaker Chambers, avowed one-time member of a Red underground.

Hiss himself admitted the connection by identifying Chambers as a man he knew years ago as "George Grosley" and as a free lance writer.

That happened yesterday in New York, before members of the House un-American activities committee and again at a news conference called by Hiss.

Previously, Chambers had testified under oath that Hiss was a member of the pre-war Red underground. Chambers insisted had operated in Washington. And Hiss, also under oath, denied it. He denied, too, knowing anyone by the name of Whittaker Chambers. He said he could not identify Chambers by a picture.

Hiss still is sticking to his statement that he is no Communist and never has been.

But committee members said they are stronger ground now that Hiss admits he knew Chambers at one time. Some of them had been saying their investigation would be hurt badly if it developed that Chambers actually never had known Hiss.

Hiss now is head of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace and Chambers is a senior editor of Time magazine.

Chambers told the committee on Aug. 3 that he joined the Communist party in 1924, quit in 1937 and for several years between served in its underground, mainly in Washington.

He listed Hiss as one of the members of this underground "apparatus." He said its original purpose was to infiltrate the government but "espionage was certainly one of its eventual objectives."

Chambers said that when he turned against the Reds, he went to Hiss' home to urge him to break with the underground. He said Hiss wept but refused.

The young China party newspaper said today in a joint dispatch from Nanking and Kuling, the summer capital, that President Chiang Kai-shek will resume absolute power. He will rule China by decree under special authority granted him for use in event of national emergency, the dispatch said.

And in Nanking, China's executive Yuan announced an absolute ban on student demonstrations—denying even the right of petition; and on strikes or other labor actions that would hinder production. The order also permits search of private homes without warrants if there is evidence of "subversive activity."

The young China (Minority) party newspaper quoted Nanking sources as saying the civil war with Communists and the economic situation were too critical to be met "by China's present synthetic democracy." The constitutional democracy became effective only last May, although the constitution was approved last Christmas.

The paper said the scheduled September session of China's elected legislature will probably be postponed. Democratic processes adjourned and one-man rule restored indefinitely.

Gulf Between Russians And West Widens

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The gulf between the West and Russia widened today, despite diplomatic efforts in Moscow to end the divergence.

Britain, France and Austria told the Danube conference in Belgrade they intend to reject the Communist pact Russia drafted for control of the river. The U. S. is expected to take the same stand later.

The United States may ask Russia to recall Consul General Yakov M. Lomakin from New York because of his role in the case of two school teachers who fled from Russian control to American asylum. One of the teachers leaped three stories from the New York consulate and suffered serious injuries rather than return to Russia.

Another Russian veto appeared likely in the United Nations on Ceylon's bid for membership.

The four power allied council for Japan held its eighth consecutive meeting in which nothing was done. All the previous 58 meetings ended in American-Russian deadlocks, and members of the council stopped trying to act.

The most dangerous difference is over Berlin, which the Russians blockaded late in June in an effort to force the Western allies out.

The Russians dangled an offer of 60,000 tons of coal for Germans of Western Berlin who registered to buy food from the Russians. Since Russia last month blared an offer to feed all Berlin, scarcely more than one of 100 Germans in the blockaded U. S. British and French sectors have signed up. U. S. and British planes took 4,100 tons of supplies into the city yesterday and expect to step up the aerial lift to 6,600 tons daily next month.

U. S. troops held defensive maneuvers in the Grunewald forest of Berlin and participated in war games with the French along the Rhine near Heidelberg. The Russians were concluding war maneuvers along the frontiers of their zone in Eastern Germany.

Communists and anti-Communists fought in the French zone of Berlin at a Red rally.

Diplomatic talks in Moscow appeared to be heading toward a climax, probably in a second interview by the Western envoys with Premier Stalin. U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith talked with the French ambassador today. No Kremlin session is expected today or tomorrow. The main aim of the talks is to get the Berlin blockade lifted and find a basis for agreement between Russia and the West on many and increasing differences.

Cactus Jack Loses Right Hand PartnerDeath Takes Mrs. Garner At Uvalde, Texas

Uvalde, Tex., Aug. 18 (AP)—Mrs. John Nance Garner, Cactus Jack's "right hand," is dead.

The wife of the 32nd vice-president of the United States died at 4:30 p. m. yesterday in the stately buff brick home her husband built for "Ettie" twenty-eight years ago. She was 78.

Death came peacefully to the inseparable companions of the south Texas lawyer who rose to be vice-president of the United States.

Garner was at his wife's side when she died. Others present included their only son, Tully, a Uvalde banker, and their only grandchild, Mrs. John J. Currie of Amarillo. Two great grandsons also survive.

Funeral services are to be held at 4 p. m. (CST) today. Burial will be here.

The life of "Cactus Jack" Garner since his marriage had been the life of Mariette Elizabeth Reihner, whom he affectionately called "Ettie." That life began 53 years ago at Sabinal, Tex., when on Nov. 25, 1895, they were married.

"My right hand" was what Garner often called his vivacious wife. She served as his personal secretary and confidante.

She and her husband had been living quietly on their nine-acre town ranch since he stepped down as vice-president in 1941. Garner did not choose to run for a third term with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Night Show Expected To Draw Large Crowds

Avery's "Manhattan Revue" ran into difficulties last night at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, first the weather, and then failure of stage and dressing room lights when a transformer in back of the grandstand blew, but the large opening night audience left the grandstand unanimous in its opinion that it's a "great show." It isn't likely that there will be a vacant seat at the night performance for the remainder of the week.

Under the direction of Randolph Avery, master of ceremonies, and a good trouper, who sent in a comedy team and then visited informally with the audience last night when the start of the show was delayed, Manhattan Revue is a fast-moving entertainment with something for everyone.

The dance routines are excellent, with precision timing. The costumes are beautiful and the lighting effects both unusual and beautiful. The Donna Parker singers and the supporting orchestra leaving nothing to be desired in the way of music. And the specialty numbers are the best in the country today.

Dance Routines

The Revue opened last night with singing and dancing cast in "Rolling on Wheels," an intricate bicycle routine to the popular tunes of bicycle days which are having a current revival. "Old Fashioned Days," a tribute to the neighboring state of Wisconsin and its centennial, had all of the charm of its title, in costumes, dancing and music, and particularly in the performance of Courtney and Sonya, featured dancers.

"Indian Festival," featuring Harold Plumber, contortionist, was spectacular in its lavish costuming, and the Mardi Gras in Brazil provided a whirlwind climax to the Revue.

Outstanding among the special acts were the Wong Troupe, supple Chinese tumblers and acrobats undoubtedly leaders in their particular field of entertainment, and Myrtle Dundedin, unicycle performer. The show also has two animal acts, favorites with the opening night audiences, Fleet's chimpanzees, and the Lancasters, whose terriers perform amazing balancing feats. The crowd also liked the novelty musicians, Gregory and Cherie.

Full Show Tonight

A heavy mist which settled down over the fair grounds after the skies had cleared following yesterday afternoon's rain forced the Waldorfs to cancel their motorcycle aerial act, but the complete show will go on tonight. Presentation of the queens opened Tuesday night's show and the coronation ceremonies closed the program.

The normal temperature of most birds is between 104 and 108 degrees.

Babe Ruth

THE DEATH OF BABE RUTH in New York closes the career of a man whose life has made a deep imprint upon the American sports scene.

Babe Ruth was something more than just a home run slugger. His record of 60 home runs in a single season will almost surely be broken—Hank Greenberg almost did it a few years ago and other sluggers have come close to that mark. Nevertheless, there will never be another Babe Ruth. The Bambino as he was affectionately known by baseball fans throughout the United States had that certain something—color—that distinguishes the great from the near-great.

The story of Babe Ruth is the story of American opportunity. An orphan boy, Ruth became the greatest sport figure of his era. His name was a by-word among sports fans, including millions who had never seen him play baseball or who, for that matter, had never seen a major league baseball game.

He was a big, lovable character with a particular soft spot in his heart for kids. He never ceased to use his talents and his money to further the interests of children, especially kids who, like Ruth, were lovers of the grand American game of baseball. Even while he was dying of cancer, Ruth devoted his energies to the Babe Ruth Foundation for the advancement of underprivileged children.

Professional baseball players owe a particular debt of gratitude to the great Bambino. It was Ruth, more than any other individual, who elevated the profession of baseball to respected dignity and who materially raised the salaries of baseball players.

Ruth's greatest popularity came at a time when baseball especially needed an uplift following the Black Sox debacle. He provided that uplift and helped to erase the stigma of the Black Sox treason.

Babe Ruth is dead, but his name will live for generation after generation in the hearts of American sportsmen.

More Competition

MICHIGAN'S TOURIST INDUSTRY will gross 400 million dollars this year, according to an estimate made by Robert J. Furlong, secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council in Lansing, who some years ago was conservation supervisor at Escanaba.

While Michigan's revenues from the tourist industry continue at a high level, Furlong points out that the business is becoming more competitive. Forty-six states are now making a bid for this trade now as compared with 34 a few years ago. Canada and Mexico also are doing extensive advertising.

One of the factors in the growth of the travel business, Furlong contends, is the fact that the public has more leisure time now. Whereas some industries did not give paid vacations to their employees a few years ago, they are now offering from one week to a month. Thirteen years ago 17.9 per cent of the wage earners in 700 companies had paid vacations. Today, Furlong said, 80 per cent of all persons employed in private industry and 97 per cent of all office workers are eligible for paid vacations.

With the extension of paid vacation time, many industries are finding it necessary to schedule vacations over a longer period. Employees are off duty beginning in May and extending into October. It is a development that should prove a boon to northern resorts who for years have been complaining that all their patronage comes in July and August.

4-H Club Day

TOMORROW IS 4-H CLUB DAY at the Upper Peninsula State Fair. It is a day purposely set aside by the fair management to pay honor and tribute to the girls and boys of the peninsula who are doing an outstanding job in making rural living ever better.

It has been said before but it is worth saying again on this occasion that the impetus given to 4-H club activities by the Upper Peninsula State Fair is in itself reason enough for the existence of the fair. The 4-H club program is widely diversified, covering virtually every phase of home and farm life. The boys and girls department has long been a bulwark of the fair. It is significant, we think, that the growth of the fair closely parallels the growth of the 4-H club program in the Upper Peninsula.

The work being done by these club members in many cases overshadows the development of general agriculture in the area. In 4-H potato club work, for instance, the youngsters have proved to be among the peninsula's best potato farmers.

This year the fair board has established dormitory facilities on the grounds for the convenience of the 4-H members. The result has been an increase in the number of youngsters who will attend the fair and show their products. An even greater growth is certain for succeeding years.

Because Thursday happens to be Escanaba Day as well as 4-H day at the fair, it is anticipated that attendance at the fair on that day will be unusually heavy. It is well that this is so because heavy attendance on 4-H club day should provide further encouragement to these youngsters to keep up the good work.

Lost Weekends

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS take a sudden jump upward each weekend on the highways here and everywhere else in motoring America.

One man was killed at Rapid River Sunday evening when he parked his automobile on the highway pavement to fix a tire. For him it was his last weekend. Seven persons were injured in an automobile collision near Menominee last weekend. For them there will be weekends last in hospital beds.

There was a motor vehicle death for every 16 minutes in the nation during 1947. Every 27 seconds there was a motor vehicle injury.

Traffic accidents take a heavy toll annually. In 1947, a total of 10,300 pedestrians literally walked themselves to death. Pedestrians killed accounted for almost one-third of the 32,300 total traffic deaths during the year. Property losses went into the millions.

It pays to drive safely.

TROUBLE ON THE ROAD

(New York Times)

In spite of the thousands of miles of trouble-free driving that most motorists experience each year, the American Automobile association estimates that cars were stalled a total of 37,260,000 times during 1947, as compared with 36,204,000 in 1946. Figures, which are kept annually and projected from reports of 2,300,000 club members and 14,000 Three-A garages throughout the country, show that flat tires in 1947 were, as usual, the leading cause for breakdowns. However, this source of trouble had a drop of 18 per cent for the year to total 8,864,000.

More than 5,000,000 cars had such serious breakdowns during 1947 that they had to be towed in for expensive repairs, the AAA survey shows, and in more than 2,000,000 cases wrecker trucks were sent to the rescue trucks were sent to the rescue; a situation which usually indicates an accident. Following tire trouble in point of frequency came battery troubles, accounting for more than 7,000,000 stoppages. Ignition troubles, accounting for more than 4,000,000 calls for help, were down from the previous year while carburetor difficulties at 2,500,000 were slightly up. Much of the trouble on the road was due to no mechanical failure at all, but entirely to that same spirit of carelessness on the part of the driver which is reflected in our disheartening accident picture. About 1,500,000 motorists got stuck in the snow, or, wandering from main highways, became bogged down in mud or snow. More than a million drivers showed so little forethought as to run out of gas. Breakdowns on the highway, often a contributory cause of accidents, like accidents themselves, can be reduced by a livelier sense of responsibility toward the use of the road.

HORSES ARE ONLY ANIMALS

(Detroit News)

It is time for Hollywood to take a more reasonable measure of the horse, of the natural limits of his muscle and bone, and of how he stands in heart and wind capacity. We say this after viewing the film, "Fort Apache," in which the United States Cavalry, sub, charges at a tight gallop across untold leagues of southwestern desert to exterminate Geronimo. The charge, as filmed, would have exterminated only the horses.

In this we see a danger which may become the despair of future generations. The day may come when the horse is gone and our descendants reflect gloomily on the fact that unlocking the secret of the atom hasn't solved all of their power problems.

It would be a great pity if on reviewing all of the old celluloid, they were to reach the conclusion: "The horse—if we had only preserved him, he would have been the answer to everything."

Practically every home has some uncomfortable chairs, says a dealer. That takes care of unwelcome company.

Take My Word For It

PET SPEECH PEEVE

Mrs. Thelma Clayton, of Duncan, Arizona, will receive an autographed copy of my Handbook for pointing her rhyming pen at the common fault of saying "I-dear" for the word idea. Here is her Pet Speech Peeve in rhyme:

The idea that I get

From those who say "I-dear,"
Is that they're saying, "I love me;
I always want me near."

The radio says, "This I-dear
Is better, friend, by far."
Does that mean, "I'm my better self—
My own dear shining star"?

The word "idea" has no rhyme
To show us how to say it.
But if it had, and cost a mint,
Egad, I'd gladly pay it!

There may be no rhyming word for idea; but this is how we ought to say it: eye-DEE-uh.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Editor's Note: Marquis Childs, well-known Washington correspondent, is exploring the great new empire of the west. He is analyzing first-hand the relationship between this vast new development and the rest of the country, and observing just how politics in this election year will fit into the picture. This is the first of a series.)

McCall, Idaho.—Here in the great empire of the west you get a different view of Washington. It is like looking through the wrong end of a telescope at a lot of little men who seem to be quarreling over issues and ideologies that have no relation to the needs and the problems of the country.

It is on the Pacific coast and in the mountain states that the greatest possibilities for growth and development still exist. That is reflected in the astonishing population growth shown in the recent census bureau report. California and Oregon have both gained more than 40 per cent since 1940, as compared to 5 per cent for New York state and 6 per cent for Pennsylvania.

This growth is reflected to a somewhat lesser degree in the mountain states. The boom is still at the crest here. The demand for almost everything that Idaho produces is at the peak and so are the prices paid to the producer.

PLAN BIGGEST SKI LIFT

This is being written in a newly opened resort hotel as fine as anything in the East, with great picture windows in every room that look out across Payette Lakes to the magnificent mountains beyond. It is part of a development that will include one of the longest ski lifts in the world, all of it being built with local capital.

But the big question is whether this is to be merely another boom. And that is where government comes in.

The balance in the empire of the West must be maintained by government. It cannot be left entirely to private exploitation. That is recognized even by some of the ablest and most hard-driving exploiters.

It is so because of the delicate balance between land and water in this great empire. A third element is power—cheap water power from the rivers of the West making it possible to compete with the East in spite of all the political advantages the East has arrogated to itself.

The millions who have come out West in the past six or seven years all have jobs in the present boom. A lot of them are finding it mighty hard to get along with sky-high prices. But they are working and they like the new land they have discovered.

But if they are to be kept at work and jobs provided for the other newcomers, then there must be industrial expansion. It is not enough to stand still. Government alone can expand and initiate the great hydro-electric projects that can mean low-cost power and new industry.

DEPRESSION FEARED

Economic prophets who have often been right in the past, such as Marnier Eccles of the Federal Reserve board, are saying that the inflationary price level is bound to bring a depression. That could mean millions of unemployed, and the burden would be especially heavy in the west with its great new population.

Against this background the quarrel between the president and the negative, nullifying Congress has an ominous look. Time is running out. It may, as the gloomy prophets say, be already too late.

That is the short-term consideration. If a depression should come, it would not necessarily be severe or prolonged. So much needs doing and building.

There is another and even more vital role that government must play in maintaining the balance essential to growth and prosperity in the empire of the west. That is in protecting the watersheds which mean the difference between life and death for this whole region.

The West has for many years been living off its capital, like a heedless rich man who believed his bank account was limitless. Or, to put it more accurately, the East has been dipping into the West's capital.

RESOURCES BEING DRAINED

That capital—in the form of forests, soil, water—has been drained off at a terrifying rate. The federal government must apply restraints, and effective restraints, if this new growth and this new prosperity is to be sustained.

I have just come from a trip through a part of the wilderness area of the Payette National Forest. On horseback, with a pack train of mules, we traveled over mountain trails through lost, lonely country. Here the life-giving streams flow crystal and pure down to the sea. Here is the capital on which the empire of the West must build and live. Fire, flood and insect pests have seriously threatened the balance. It is a never-ending struggle to maintain it.

I want to try to describe that struggle and what it means for the West and the country. It is at the very foot of politics in this year of 1948, even though the Washington sidshow seems intended to disguise that fact.

The "r" sound is what is called the intrusive "r." It is a sort of parasite that fastens itself at the end of certain words which end with a vowel sound, and especially if the following word starts with a vowel, as: "In the area-r of New York; my idea-r is; the law-r is on his side; in Asia-r and Africa-r and Europe-r."

The intrusive "r" is more common in the East than elsewhere in the country. Easterners pay little attention to it. But most non-Easterners dislike it and regard it as illiterate and slovenly. For that reason, broadcasters should eliminate all intrusive "r's" from their speech.

A DOG'S LIFE—Skipper is a playful pup whose life is bounded on all sides by the waters of Green Bay. He lives on an island without sand in which to dig, without cats to chase, and without trees to salute. Yet in the absence of all these Skipper's life is well-ordered, happy and content. For Skipper is the pet pooch and mascot of Minneapolis Shool lighthouse, a man-made island of concrete and steel located on a rocky shoal about 12 miles south of Escanaba in Green Bay. Skipper was taken to Minneapolis Shoal by Pete Scott, who with Tony Jensen, William O'Hern and Bill Ernst compose the lighthouse crew. Tony is officer in charge, O'Hern is first assistant and Scott second assistant.

The other day we visited Minneapolis Shoal with some friends. During the afternoon the fog signal was tested and the visitors jumped when the first blast of sound broke loose. Skipper just flicked one ear and went on about his business of playing with a bone.

BIRL-FRIEND—

Students of Michigan State College, in training for their field day at Camp Dunbar (Chippewa county) are learning how to ride a log with caked boots. Their teacher is Adolph Girard of Gladstone, professional birler whose agility on the whirling timber stick has been demonstrated often at the national roleo championship matches in his home town.

The MSC students are in training for birling matches with students of the University of Michigan and Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton. The old rivermen's sport lives on.

THE OLD DAYS—

The other day at the Delta county court house we met Atty. James Clancey of Menominee City, Fla., who is spending the summer in Escanaba. Probably because of his venerable appearance they call him Judge Clancey, although he is quick to tell you that he never occupied the judicial bench, either in Michigan or Florida.

Mr. Clancey was prosecuting attorney of Delta county way back in 1889 and will tell you that the prosecutor's job was no bed of roses in those days.

"There was a saloon on every Ludington street corner, and one block was almost solid with saloons," he recalls.

There were many crimes of violence says Mr. Clancey, with the law called in to punish aggressors among the fighting lumberjacks in woods camps and to discourage the brawls in town. Some of the trouble resulted from arguments over gambling, and Mr. Clancey says the law cracked down hard on the professional gamblers.

"I'm dead set against gambling," he said. "Let a young man hang around a gambling joint too long and he will be headed toward a life of crime."

A GRAND SCALE—The "Pay As You Go" fiscal policy for government finds in Mr. Clancey a passionate advocate. It was his interest in government finance that prompted Mr. Clancey to be-

The reforms were obtained and Mr. Clancey was not elected, in accordance with his desire. "The campaign to defeat me was so thoroughly understood that even my wife didn't vote for me," he smiled. Mrs. Clancey was born in Escanaba.

WHISKEY VS. MILK—John J. Snyder, member of the Pennsylvania milk control commission, broke into verse last week after the commission had heard many complaints against the rising price of milk.

"You can raise the price of liquor," his ditty began, "but the only squeal you hear is from a thirsty public which demands more gin and beer."

"The same way with tobacco; they will pay without a peep, and smoke at least as heavily as they did when it was cheap."

"You can put a tax on movies, they will ante up and go, they will pay a rise with pleasure on the things they wear for show."

"But the price of milk? O boy! They'll fight with all their breath; they have a growing youngster who is going to starve to death."

They don't ask for bigger wages just to spend it all on milk; they will show those wicked farmers and their scheming, thieving ilk.

"They will march with hoisted banners, they will cable, write or wire, they will drag the local member by his whiskers through the mire."

"They won't mind paying raises on their whiskey, smokes or silk, but not the slightest fraction will they tolerate on milk."

NOTE—If you find milk bottles on the back porch you will seldom discover whiskey bottles in the alley.

Roving Reporter

Washington, (AP) — What this country needs is an automobile that will grow old usefully.

Look at these sleek, fat bottomed cars coming out now and you'll see what I mean.

The cars of tomorrow, eh? Well, how will they look the day after tomorrow? How will they look—and act—15, 20 or 25 years from today?

I think I know the answers to these questions, for I have just completed a three-week vacation in my native Ozarks. Now that I have my shoes back on, I can carry this message to the car-makers of America:

Gentlemen, the Ozarks are not pleased.

My authority for this statement is Bert Rush of Cherryvale, Kan. You will understand why he is an authority when I tell you what he did for a living.

He sold hand washing machines.

Hand washing machines? "Sure," said Rush. "You know, the kind you swish back and forth by hand. The wringer is worked by hand, too. I had the whole state of Arkansas for my territory. At one time I had 50 salesmen working for me. A mighty fine business, too."

Rush sold out when he saw the handwriting on the wall. He couldn't help but see it. It was in electric lights.

"The rural electrification administration moved in on me," Bert said. "Soon as a farmer gets electricity he begins to wonder about an electric washing machine. It ruined some of my best areas."

Obviously anyone who sells hand washing machines knows a thing or two about what happens to old cars. He hits places where anything more recent than 1934 is considered putting on airs.

"These new cars," scoffed Rush, "are strictly highway jobs. What can they do on an Ozark road?"

That's a good question, but a hard one to answer. A lot of other sections of the country that are off the beaten paths must be asking the same question, too.

For the old-fashioned car was a girl who didn't mind showing her knees, or more so. She could wade water almost up to her middle, and she thought nothing of straddling stumps and rocks.

But these cars of today, with their highfalutin' airs! They're so wide they'd hang up on the sides of many a country road. They're so low they'd scrape bottom on a rock no bigger than a milk crock.

Okay, their speedometers hint they can do 100 or better.

But how will they do in gumbo mud?

Can you jack up the back, slip on a fly wheel, and saw wood?

How are they at running down heifers over plowed ground?

Can you carry a sack of chicken feed on each of the front fenders? Frankly, carmakers of America, the folks down in the Ozarks think the answer to these questions is no.

And that's why they're worried. Mighty, mighty worried.

The game Moscow is playing is not just a European game or a China game. It all southeast Asia becomes a solid, hostile Communist bloc, it will be a cause of great concern to all the world.—Edwin F. Stanton, U. S. Ambassador to Siam.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington. — When a nation is in dire trouble with another nation—as we are today with Russia—wise leaders concentrate on the weakest point in the other nation's armor.

The weakest point in Russia's armor are her own people—as this column has so long emphasized, and as is being emphasized today in New York by two Russian school-teachers. In brief, when the Russian people get to know the difference between the U. S. A. and the U. S. S. R., they prefer the U. S. A.

Simultaneously the Moscow press and radio are putting out completely false ideas about these Russian school-teachers—because the Kremlin knows all too well that the Russian people are the weakest spot in the Soviet armor and that they must continue to be deceived.

The Kremlin knows this, but the state department doesn't know it—or, at least, doesn't do anything about it. The diplomats who guide our Russian policy do not seem to realize that there will always be danger of war with Russia—and grave danger—until we get behind the iron curtain to make friends with the Russian people.

When this column suggested floating weather balloons into Russia from Germany with propaganda messages and gifts attached (which the weather bureau says is quite feasible), the Army and Air Forces were most enthusiastic. One high-ranking general urged releasing a million balloons a month.

"If we can get to the Russian people that way or any other way," he said, "we are supposed to fight wars can go fishing."

But the state department, which has the final say in all such foreign-policy matters, said no. Russia, they decreed, might be offended.

CODE FOR WAR PREVENTION

Perhaps it is Lese Majesty for a humble newspaperman to give advice to the high-and-mighty state department. But since, if war comes, it is my children—not the diplomats—who have to fight, I therefore, exercise my right as one American citizen to make some suggestions to our diplomats:

1. Please remember that Russian bureaucrats are just the same whether under the czar or the Kremlin—dictatorial, ruthless, unscrupulous. They will lie, cheat, brow-beat. They understand only one thing—the diplomatic straight-arm and superior force.

2. Please remember also that the Russian people are friendly, emotional, temperamental, worried, frequently deceived by Moscow propaganda, groping to find the true facts. They have been under a dictatorship both under the czars and under the Kremlin, and, when they come in touch with the Western world—either in New York, Vienna or Berlin—they crave more contact with forbidden Western capitalism.

"OFFENDING THE RUSSIANS"

3. Remember also that the only way to treat Russian bureaucrats is to "offend" them. Molotov uses offensive tactics continually because that's the language he understands. Therefore, let's offend them where it really hurts. For instance:

A. We lent Russia 100 ships outside of lend-lease. When those ships put into U. S. ports, let's attach them until we get payment.

B. We sold hydro-electric equipment for the Dnieper River dam, still unpaid for. We are suffering a $1,500,000-a-day loss as a result of the Berlin blockade and the airlift. Until those amounts are paid, let's increase the tolls through the Panama Canal for every Russian ship. If the present charge for one ship is $5,000, increase it to $500,000 per ship. The British can do the same at Suez.

C. Demand distribution of American films, magazines and newspapers in Russia exactly equal to the distribution

Flower Display Largest In U. P. Fair History

Snow-white gladioli, Queen Ann's lace, a lovely wild flower that grows along the highway south of Powers, dahlias of enormous size and rich coloring, globe thistle, seldom found in an amateur flower grower's collection, and beautiful arrangements of the wild flowers found in the Upper Peninsula woodlands at this season of the year are just a few of the outstanding exhibits in the floriculture department of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, aptly styled "Fairland Garden."

The exhibit this year is the largest in the history of the fair. It occupies two tiered display stands in the fore part of the main exhibition building. An outstanding exhibit of beauty, effectively arranged, it is attracting thousands of spectators who spend considerable time admiring the entries.

The increase in interest which has doubled the entries in the department probably is due to two factors. The premium list has been revised to include only flowers native to Upper Peninsula gardens and woods and the prizes have been made more attractive.

Gladioli are prominent in the exhibit. There is almost every shade of this flower and of asters and dahlias.

Monk's Hood Unusual

A small exhibit of exquisite taste is an arrangement of yellow calendula in a delft blue vase.

There are two varieties of monk's hood this year, one of deep purple and the other purple and white. These unusual flowers are exactly the shape of a monk's hood and the semblance is particularly evident in the solid color. They are a rare exhibit, not often seen.

The globe thistle also is unusual in an amateur's garden and the entry is a beautiful one.

Candytuft, white ageratum, cosmos, particularly large Shasta daisies, larkspur and stock, sturdy zinnias, lovely phlox and poppies of delicate pink shading are other displays attracting attention.

The displays of wild flowers are outstanding, combining golden rod, blazing star, cat-tails and other woodland fall blooms.

Among the house plants are extremely large geraniums, a baby tear plant that is unusually large, coleus, begonias, flowering maple and varieties of ivy.

The department is in charge of Mrs. J. E. Byrnes, superintendent, and Mr. Byrnes is assistant superintendent.

Florists' Exhibit

Upper Peninsula florists are exhibiting their choicest blooms in the decorative floral center of the entrance to the exhibition building. Gladioli arranged against a background of evergreen feature the present display.

and on Escanaba Day, a bouquet of 100 American Beauty roses will greet Fair visitors when they enter the building.

Home Arts Exhibits At U.P. State Fair Show Wide Variety

The home arts exhibits at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, embracing the home economics, needlework and home extension work of U. P. women, is one of the finest ever displayed. There is greater variety in the type of material exhibited, more displays of the intricate and fine work, and much more in the section than in many years.

The exhibits are attracting much attention too. Not only housewives and home economists, but young persons and many men are to be found gazing at the many tiers of neatly canned foods, the baked goods displays and the fine hobby work shown in crochet, knit and lace work.

Miss Opal Roberson is in charge of the home extension display, but is at present in New York. Mrs. Jayne Nord, assistant superintendent of the project, is substituting for her. Others assisting in this exhibit are Mrs. Mary Lou Muller of Menominee, Miss Bernetta Kahabka of Ironwood, Miss Ingrid Tervonen of Sault Ste. Marie and Miss Victoria Brust of Marquette.

In the needlecraft and home economics Miss Roberson of the Michigan State college extension staff is superintendent and is aided by Mrs. Nord of Marquette, Mrs. G. M. Haberle of Escanaba, Mrs. I. R. Nelson of Bark River and Mrs. Sam Watson of Kingsford.

TALES OF SPYS ARE CONFUSING

But Ruark Has Simple Explanation

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York — You can absorb just so much of this Communist-spy stuff, with a fresh revelation every hour on the hour, and then it begins to run out of the ears. It sounds a little too E. Phillips Oppenheim for complete credibility. It might have been an easy target for the liberal, or blushing, cry of witch hunt, and for Mr. Truman's elaborate shrug and label of political red herring.

I say "might have been." This is, after all, an election year, and an international crisis year, and everybody is hollering and waving the arms. For a plain citizen who was raised in the simple company of rasslers, baseball players, police court characters and uncomplicated crackpots, all the nuances have a way of fusing into a vague aura of unreality.

But out of the charge-and-counter charge, with spy compounding and climax onto climax, have come two damning pieces of evidence. One is the fact that a Russian national, a school teacher named Oksana Stepanova Kosenkina, took a dry dive out of the Soviet consulate in New York. She jumped three stories onto concrete to get away from her fellow citizens, her protectors, her happy haven from persecution in a foreign land.

Hot on the heels of that one is the bulletin from London which says that half-a-dozen Hungarians and Czechs, Olympic stars, have decided to stay on in England rather than go home to athletic glory in their Communist-protected lands.

Something Is Wrong

These two unrelated incidents are as blunt as a hammer murder. You can't fog it up with ideology or politics, or protect it with potent public relations. It is as conclusive as a home run, and as immune to loose interpretation as a kick in the pants.

This is the poor man's rebuttal of the apologists who say the Soviets aren't so bad, if we would just give them half a chance to be nice kids. This is the ordinary taxpayer's evidence that there is something to the prosecutor's charges that the Russians are a gang of murdering thugs, with our local Commies as adjutants in planned world assassination. This is a meat-and-potato commentary on the often unsubstantiated charge that things are not too nice behind the iron drape.

Old Homer Q. Sapiens, the bewildered American male, may not know whether the pudgy spy queen, Liz Bentley, is a real menace or a neurotic fool. He may not savvy the ins and outs of the Berlin business, or who said what to whom at Yalta, or the true story of Greece and Korea. Suppose he didn't believe most or all of the current commotion in Washington, which is being presented by the Truman administration as purely a political smear job.

There You Have It

But all of a sudden a Russian woman, being protected from her evil persecutors by her own consulate, does a half-gainer out the window rather than be protected any longer. She risks death in a dive in order to get into the hands of our police, and to avoid being sent home to Papa Joe. This he can believe. This is uncontroversial sense.

And across the water, a flock of athletic heroes suddenly decide not to reap the renown which is theirs if they return to their native, benevolently protected homeland. They choose instead the drab poverty and grim privation of seedy England. This is roughly comparable to Jesse Owens and Eleanor Holm suddenly deciding to stay on in Hitler's Germany, rather than come home to tickertape and national acclaim.

If you seek an unshakable verification of our stand against the Russians and their local affiliates, it seems to me you have it all, right there. An old lady jumps. Some muscular heroes, once sprung, won't go back home.

WRONG ALARM COSTLY

Detroit, Aug. 17 (AP)—It cost Willie Solomon, 27, more to summon police than he lost to the thug who robbed him of $15.

Solomon was fined $50 for trying to get officers to the scene in a hurry by pulling a fire alarm.

The queen candidates appeared before a grandstand audience at 10 p. m., after which coronation ceremonies took place.

Sorority members of Delta Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi were official hostesses at a reception at the fairgrounds for the queen, her chaperone, queen candidates and their chaperones, committee members and other guests.

Exclusive Control Of Danube Voted By Communist Bloc

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 18 (AP)—Eastern Europe's Communist bloc voted itself exclusive control over the Danube river today and the Western Powers officially recorded their refusal to heed the decision.

The vote of the conference was 7 to 1 to accept the Russian-drafted pact posting a "Danube for the Danubians" sign over the continent's most important waterway. The United States voted against it. Neither Britain nor France voted.

The United States accused Russia of "deception." The head of the American delegation charged that the Communist bloc of states had been used with "cynical" solidarity to achieve the Soviet aim.

Great Lakes Ships Set New Postwar Record During July

Cleveland, (AP)—A new postwar record for July was established by the Great Lakes Bulk Freighters Fleet last month when it moved 21,040,208 net tons of iron ore, coal and grain, the lake carriers' association reported Friday.

Iron ore accounted for 13,239,541 tons, which brought the cumulative movement to August 1 to 49,975,105 tons, the largest tonnage of ore moved in a comparable peacetime period.

Coal shipments, accelerated by the resumption of full mining operations, reached 6,912,569 net tons, bringing the season total to 24,070,971 net tons, highest for the period since the war.

Grain shipments, 88,900 net tons, a considerable increase over the June figure, brought the season's shipments to 3,073,921 net tons, or 110,486,427 bushels.

Total movement this season to August 1 of iron ore, coal and grain reached a total of 75,119,997 tons, exceeded only in the war years of 1942, 1944, and 1945.

Hitchhiking Mother And Baby Stopped On Way to Frisco

Old Orchard Beach, Maine, (AP)—Mrs. Marjorie Furio won't thumb her way to San Francisco, or anywhere else.

"Don't you dare move," her soldier husband telephoned her. The 28-year-old blonde happily agreed to stay here.

Thinking her husband, Cpl. Tony Furio, was going overseas, Mrs. Furio, short of travel money, started hitch hiking from Bangor Friday. She carried 22-month-old Tony Jr. in her arms.

The excitement was too much for the boy. He took sick and Mrs. Furio stopped here with a friend.

Furio, in the meantime, was trying to advise her that he isn't going overseas, but to Fort Bliss at El Paso, Tex.

The San Francisco Chronicle and Old Orchard Beach police got them together—on a telephone line—last night.

Corporal Tony told his wife to wait here. He's leaving for Maine Wednesday, she said, and will take her and little Tony to El Paso.

WHERE PEOPLE LIVE LONGER

It's Central Northwest States Region

Washington, (SS)—People live longer in Nebraska than in any other state. Healthiest section of the nation, from the standpoint of length of life, is the West North Central states: Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

These facts were disclosed in new tables for white population worked out by the Statistical Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company under the auspices of the National Office of Vital Statistics of the U. S. Public Health Service here.

Women in the West North Central states live to be more than 69 years old, while men average over 65 years.

Shortest length of life is in the Mountain states: Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico. Men average 60.98 years and women, 66.03 in that region. High death rates for the Spanish-speaking populations of Arizona and New Mexico helped lower the average, it was pointed out.

Shortest average length of life for men is in Arizona, while women have the shortest life span in New Mexico.

Lowest death rates for a person between 25 and 45 years old are in New England. But at 45, the average New Englander has a life expectancy of only 25.37 years, compared with 27.56 years for the West North Central states.

Dividing the country into three sections, the statisticians found that the North has the longest average length of life, followed by the South and West.

Men in the North have an average life expectancy of 63.43 years at birth, women 67.51 years. Men live to be slightly older in the South than in the West, but women live longer in the West.

The newly-published figures for regional life expectancy were compiled for the years 1939-41.

Reasons for the differences in length of life in different regions include several factors, it was pointed out. General standard of living, degree of industrialization, density of population, adequacy and availability of medical and hospital facilities and climate are mentioned as some of the possible reasons for the differences found in the new tables.

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

Judging from publishing activities, what might be called the royal road to writing royalties is being traveled today by more people than ever. There lies before me at this moment a catalog of a single publishing house that lists no less than 32 books on how to write books.

Not all publishers go off the deep end on this subject, as this particular one does, but most publishers at least dabble in books of this type. All publishers are in the business of selling books, and most of them know that there are literally millions of people who believe they can attain fame and fortune through writing, whether they are literate or not, and so it is quite natural that many publishers should cater to this vast market.

In the list before me there are all sorts of books on writing, by all sorts of writing doctors, from all sorts of angles. One of them, for instance, describes 101 plots that he claims are often used and abused. The author is the associate editor of a widely read fiction magazine and he appears to base his conclusions on his own experience with hundreds of thousands of manuscripts that have been submitted to that particular publication. But the chances are that his conclusions are relatively valueless for other types of publications.

And then there is the book on the old familiar idea that there are only 36 possible plots. The advertising promises that the list contains "the fundamental dramatic material to be found in human experience." Doubtless many poor ill-used yearners to write will come to the conclusion that if they can only own this book they can match the plots of Shakespeare and Dickens. And the secret is offered them at the ridiculously low price of $2.

But Shakespeare never heard of this book or of the idea that there are only 36 possible plots, and neither did Dickens. The book has about as much practical value for writers as a book would have that set forth the solemn fact that there are only 26 letters in the alphabet. You don't become a writer by learning those 26 letters.

Then also there is a book on the craft of novel writing that employs the method of having a number of successful novelists, critics, and teachers pool their information on how to write novels. For only $2.75 the young writers can get all that information, including pointers on how to write historical novels, mystery novels, western novels, I am willing to hazard the opinion that young writers can read their eyes out in the perusal of this book, or two dozen others like it, without being any wiser as to how to write those types of novels.

The poets also come in for their share of attention. One of the writers has reduced the art of poetry to what she calls "seven principles." What they may be the advertising does not tell us. But reducing poetry to statistics is like trying to catch the wind in a net. In its very nature poetry is incapable of being reduced to figures or "principles."

And it is significant that the author of this book, a woman who presumes to tell others how to write poetry, bears a name that has never been heard of in the field of poetry. Why doesn't she apply her own "seven principles" and become a poet? That, by the way, is the trouble with nearly all these books—they are by people who do not practice, who only preach.

There is only one book in the whole list of 32 that seems worth recommending to young writers. A successful popular novelist contributes a volume on the theme

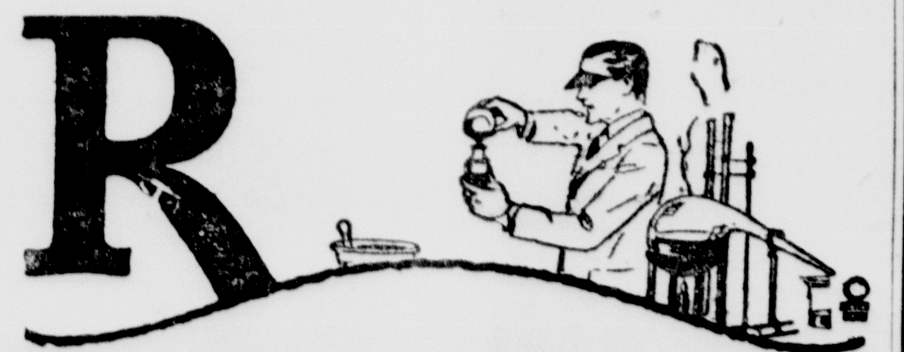

At the Derby—or at any race, any time—you'll find that the sportsman who knows prefer the Bausch & Lomb Binocular. Why? Because its width of field, brilliant illumination, and rugged sturdiness truly make it the world's finest glass. There are various models to choose from. Each is a welcome companion at the track, for yachting, hunting, polo or touring. Inspect these fine glasses that are here for you.

Mary McCauley,
Frank Sheffer
Exchange Vows

In a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Fr. Howard Drollet this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, Miss Mary Valerie McCauley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett E. McCauley, 321 South 19th street, exchanged marriage vows with Frank O. Sheffer of Brampton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Sheffer.

Bouquets of gladioli, hollyhocks and tiger lilies decorated the altars for the service. Mary Anne Gasman, soloist, sang the "Ave Maria" at the Offertory and the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's Wedding March were played by Mrs. William Ramspeck, organist.

In the bridal party were Florence Eva McCauley, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor, Lois Jean McCauley, another sister, and Patricia Ann Goodreau, bridesmaids; Susan Kay Dubord, the bride's niece, who was flower girl; Edward M. Davis, of Soo Hill best man for Mr. Sheffer, and Gerald Potvin of Wells, a cousin of the bride, and Marvin Sheffer, brother of the bridegroom, who ushered.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, wore white net over rayon, Chantilly lace trimming the front of the fitted bodice, forming the peplum and a pinafore ruffle which tapered down the back of the skirt to the edge of the train. The sleeves were close fitting, coming to points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion with a wide scalloped edging of lace was gathered to a crown of pearl orange blossoms and she wore, as her only jewelry, a single strand of pearls. She carried a white prayer book, the gift of the bridegroom, attached to the cover of which were red roses with white satin ribbon markers.

Aides In Like Gowns

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore like gowns of rayon jersey with braided trim and overskirts of net. Sweetheart necklines, short net sleeves, ribbon sashes and wide peplums of net distinguished the close fitting bodices. The maid of honor was in pink, Lois Jean wore blue and Patricia Ann's gown was yellow. All three had full length gloves and Juliet caps of net rayon and they carried bouquets of gladioli with satin bows the color of the gowns. The little flower girl was dressed in a floor length frock of white organdy, scalloped edging trimming the off-the-shoulder cape collar and, in four tiers, the bottom of the full skirt. She wore a cap of ruffled organdy, matching mitts, and a tiny gold cross necklace, the bridegroom's gift, and she carried a miniature bouquet of pink and white sweetpeas.

The bride's mother selected a two piece linen suit of aqua with pleated pockets and a double row of buttons for her daughter's wedding. She wore black accessories with it. Mrs. Sheffer wore a navy tailored dress with white accessories.

Women Journalists Find Their Work Interesting

"Newspaper work provides many interesting and colorful experiences," said Margo Parish, domestic staff correspondent for Time's Chicago office, when she and Mae Tinee of the Chicago Tribune were interviewed at the U. P. State fairgrounds yesterday. "We meet all kinds of people, we do all kinds of things, but we manage to live through it."

These two women along with Mrs. J. B. Randall, vice-president of the Badger Green Bay Business college, were the judges for the U. P. State Fair queen contest. They have been vacationing at Blaney Park the past two weeks, and were secured as judges by Edward Dreier of the U. P. Development Bureau.

"I got into newspaper work in a kind of back-door method," explained Miss Parish. "I got the urge to write and sent in a story to Liberty magazine. It was accepted. That was in 1938. In 1940, Time was looking for someone to take care of the overflow of stories at its Chicago office and I was chosen for the job. My name first appeared on Time's masthead in 1945."

Covers Varied Stories
The coverage on stories of the Chicago office is diversified, Miss Parish said. She works in the fields of medicine, science, business, radio, religion and national affairs.

Miss Parish has done some life work, covering the Veishea story at Iowa State college this spring, and two weeks ago the Culver Summer Naval Camp story.

"My most interesting experience was the time I covered the anniversary of the Restoration of the Holy Orders of the Episcopal church," said Miss Parish. "To get the story for both Time and Life, it was necessary that I be on the altar. So I was to be vested as a choir girl. It was only when the ceremonies were about to begin that I discovered that the choir for the mass was the Naskota House group of choir boys! However, I managed to remain hidden behind the boys, since I was shorter than they."

Miss Parish attended Monticello college and the University of Nebraska. Margo Parish is her pen name; in real life she is Mrs. Margo Bottorf. She has one daughter, Ann, adopted from the Cradle in Evanston. They reside in Evanston where Ann will enter her freshman year at Evanston Township high school this fall.

Second Mae Tinee

Miss Anna Mangle is the second Mae Tinee, Chicago Tribune movie critic. She was the first Mae Tinee's secretary and upon the latter's retirement, Miss Mangle took over the position.

"I haven't attended a movie these past two weeks and believe me, I don't miss them. Before the Jackson Park ruling, which says that loop theatres are not allowed monopoly on releases any longer than two weeks, I had to attend four to five movies a week. Now the number ranges from ten to twelve," said Miss Mangle.

"It's a relief when a good movie comes along such as Sitting Pretty, with Clifton Webb and Maureen O'Hara, or Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House."

Chicago movie critics see many releases in screening rooms before the movie is released to the public. Before the printer's strike, Mae Tinee could see movies in the morning, turn out her copy at three, and have her reviews in the paper which appeared on the streets at seven in the evening. Now copy does not appear until a day or two after it is written.

STURGEON IS ROTE SPEAKER

Tells Of King Strang And Beaver Island

The history of King Strang's colony on Beaver Island was detailed by Joseph A. Sturgeon before fellow Rotarians at the weekly luncheon meeting Monday noon at the Yacht club.

It was an attempt to establish a communistic area within a republic which has representative government and like all such attempts it failed.

The speaker told how Strang, a follower of Mormon Smith, went into Wisconsin to establish a Mormon community and then with the death of Smith and the westward trek of many of his followers Strang grabbed control in the midwest and established a colony on Beaver Island in Lake Michigan with himself as king.

While monogamy was the rule for the island colony, King Strang had a secretary apparently a man, who traveled with him on trips but who turned out to be a young, attractive girl attired in man's clothes.

After a number of brushes with the law, state and federal, King Strang was shot and mortally wounded by a disgruntled follower. His death, rioting, pillaging and burning followed and the colony disintegrated.

Nevin Reynolds of Escanaba and Coach Eldon Keil were guests at the meeting.

Guard Against Potato
Blight Says Reid

A warning to take precautions against potato blight has been issued this week by Clayton Reid, county agricultural agent.

Reid states that a letter recently received from Denny Clananahan, crops specialist with the Michigan Department of Agriculture, stated that this disease was found in some Delta county potato fields the past week and added that present weather conditions could add to the trouble. He emphasized that it would pay to take extra precautions from now on to protect the potato crop against possible loss.

Mr. Clananahan suggested that a good remedy for blight control is as follows:

First, spray every four or five days instead of waiting for the usual week or ten days.

Second, drive your tractor in lower gear, thereby getting a larger volume of spray on the vines and a more complete coverage.

The 1948 price support program for potatoes has recently been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The 1948 crops will be supported throughout the marketing period, running into the 1949 calendar year, by a loan program plus purchase, diversion, and export operations.

Support prices for Michigan U. S. No. 1 potatoes, sacked and loaded F. O. B., will be as follows: August, $2.45 per cwt.; September, $2.55; October, $2.65; November, $2.80; December, $3.00; January, 1949, $3.10; February, $3.15; and March, $3.20.

With support prices like these one can't afford to let crops be destroyed by blight, says Reid.

Game Case Here Sounds Like A Real Fish Story

Being tried for a second offense as the result of a first offense, but that is practically what happened to John, Mose and Amos Anthony, commercial fishermen operating in this area.

They were recently arrested in Manistique for a commercial fish violation and entered pleas of not guilty. While they were awaiting trial, they were picked up on the same charge at Whitefish Point. Upon arraignment, they pleaded guilty. Thus their later trial at Manistique would have all the appearances of being for a second offense although it was actually for the first arrest.

Concert Tuesday Night
Is Last Of Season

The Manistique Municipal Band will make its final bow for the outdoor popular concert season next Tuesday evening at the high school stadium.

This band, generally regarded as by far the best Manistique has ever had, has given weekly concerts all summer long, alternating each week between Lincoln school grounds and the court house grounds. Large crowds have attended these concerts, the attendance at some of them being well over a thousand persons. A recent concert at Blaney Park also won acclaim. And it is the hope of the band members and its sponsors that the best attendance of the entire season be present Tuesday night. A public address system will be set up at the stadium and there will be remarks from local citizens who helped build up this splendid organization.

There will be no admission charge to the concert, but a free will offering will be taken up to give those who have enjoyed the band a chance to show their appreciation.

The floodlights of the stadium will be turned on, and the band members, resplendent in their new uniforms, will make a striking appearance. All of the favorites of the season will be played.

On Sunday, September 5, the band will close its season with a concert at Blaney Park. Its previous appearance at this resort was one of the highlights of Blaney's summer season.

Arc Lights Swell Tiger Attendance; Sox Whipped, 6-4

Detroit, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers may be a fifth-place ball club with hardly a chance to finish in the first division—but you'd never guess it after a look at their 1948 attendance figures.

A crowd of 35,430 at Briggs stadium last night watched Detroit beat the last-place Chicago White Sox 6 to 4, bringing home attendance to 1,404,855 in 52 games, the second highest in history.

Only in 1946, when 1,722,590 fans showed up for 77 home games have the figures topped this year's count. The Tigers have one more night game Friday, and 21 additional daytime contests are scheduled before the curtain falls on the 1948 season.

Thirteen are-light games are largely responsible for swelling this year's attendance. The Detroit club installed the lights last spring.

Young Ted Gray, with an able assist from Stubby Overmire, gave a rewarding performance for the fans who were on hand last night.

Gray, credited with his third straight victory since he was

Babe Remembered

For Little Things

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Babe was a big man with a big wallop but there are thousands who will remember him more for the little things he did along the way. A fine gesture here and there. A lift for the little guy.

Such as the time he held up an exhibition game 15 minutes while he accommodated a fledgling reporter on his first major assignment.

The date was April 4, 1933. The world champion Yankees were swinging north after a breaking spring camp. Marce Joe McCarthy brought them into Nashville, Tenn., with a flourish.

Babe Ruth's best playing days were behind him but his was still the magic name of baseball.

The youngster was told to get an interview with the Bambino—a personality piece, find out what the Babe eats, thinks, likes.

The hotel said, no Mr. Ruth isn't in. At another hotel, they hadn't seen him.

Not around, said Lefty Gomez, through a half opened door. Keep looking—you'll find him, encouragingly said McCarthy.

But after four hours, no Ruth. The youngster, exhausted, set up vigil at the ball park.

"Shoot, kid,"

Shortly before game time, a taxi screamed up. The big man lumbered out. He was in uniform, stocking-footed, carrying his spiked shoes in his hand.

"Mr. Ruth," the boy said hesitantly. "I'd like to ask you a few questions."

"Shoot, kid," the Babe said pleasantly. He took a comfortable leaning position on the rail.

The Babe said he didn't think the three per cent beer, just legalized, would affect the game any. In fact, he liked a bit of the foam himself occasionally.

His favorite movie actor was George Bancroft and his favorite actress, Janet Gaynor. Favorite pastime? Why, hunting—rather shoot birds in the air than on the links.

The questions seem so sophomoric almost 16 years later. But they only went to magnify the tremendous patience and consideration of the Yankee hero.

The biggest thrill? The home run hit into the centerfield bleachers at Wrigley field in the world series the year before. Favorite fish, quail.

"Hey, Babe, come on, it's time to start," his mates yelled from the field.

The Bambino gave a "gwan" gesture and said: "Okay, kid, anything else?"

His First Byline

There were more questions. The Babe, under heavy pressure from the field and from the fans, appeared in no rush.

No, he said, he didn't believe any present-day player would beat his home run record, not even Jimmy Foxx. Best pitchers? Lefty Gomez and Lefty Grove.

"Step on it, Babe," they barked from below.

The Yankees should repeat, the Bambino continued quietly under the inexpert prodding. Washington should be the toughest opposition but that new manager, Joe Cronin, was mighty young.

Then it was over—the written questions were exhausted.

"Thanks, Mr. Ruth," the young man said.

"Any time, kid," the Babe answered. He picked his way carefully down the rows of seats to the field.

It was a little thing, perhaps, but it made a lasting impression on the boy who got his interview. And it happened just like that. I still have the clipping. You see, it was my first by-line.

EVENT BOOKED AT STATE FAIR

Seven Races Scheduled; Big Crowd Likely

A fast field of drivers and some of the world's speediest big car racers will compete in the International Motor Contest Association national championship races at the Upper Peninsula State Fair Thursday afternoon.

Seven races are scheduled, including the qualifying time trials which will get under way shortly after 1:30 o'clock. In the time trials each car is timed one lap around the track with a running start. Places in heats are determined upon the basis of the time trials.

The program will be concluded with the IMCA national championship special, for which winners of the first three places are awarded points towards the national title. The biggest percentage of the prize money also is wrapped up in the feature race of the day.

Among the cars to be in action here tomorrow are several Offenhausers, the fastest racing machines in the world. Emory Collins, of LeMars, Iowa, who set a new track record at Austin, Minn., last week, will drive an Offenhauser and Ben Musick, of Dallas, Texas, will drive Jimmie Wilburn's Offenhauser. Wilburn was injured recently at Ocala, Iowa, and is still in critical condition. He had been entered in the Escanaba races.

Russ Lee of Minneapolis and Billy Snyder of St. Paul will also drive Offenhauser racers. A field of about 16 cars is anticipated.

Other drivers whose entries have been received by the contest committee are Ernie Johnson, Christine, N. D.; Claire Cotter, Austin, Minn.; Sunny Elson, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Speedy Allison, St. Paul, Minn.; Kirk Washburn, St. Paul; Hank Wheeler, Grand Forks, N. D.; George Swanger, Grand Forks, N. D.; Roy Yauger, Austin, Minn.; Phil Mocco, St. Louis, Mo.; Ronald Bohlander, Des Moines, Iowa; LeRoy Shackleton, Rock Island, Ill.; and Hank Snyder, St. Paul, Minn. Several last minute entries also are anticipated.

The IMCA track crew will arrive in Escanaba this evening to ready the half mile oval for the auto races Thursday. If it rains tonight, that's OK with the track crew because plenty of water on the track is the prescription for a good base. That is, of course, provided it does not rain just before the races are scheduled or while the contests are in progress. It would require a virtual deluge to wash out the race program, however.

Barber's Sons Take Big Cut at Radio

AP Newsfeatures

Bismarck, N. D. (AP)—When J. W. Murphy, veteran Bismarck barber, dips on the radio, the chances are pretty good he'll hear from one of his three sons. The two older ones years ago made the leap from this midwestern town of 20,000 into big-time radio. Now the third and youngest, Bill Murphy, sports announcer for KFYR, Bismarck, has successfully negotiated the first step.

He landed a job with the National Broadcasting company recently in competitive auditions, and has gone to work in Chicago. That makes three Bismarck Murphys in network radio in Chicago.

The oldest, Howard—"Pat"—to radio audiences—first broke into radio at KSTP, St. Paul, Minn., in 1929. He later announced in Grand Forks, N. D., and Duluth, Minn., before joining the Columbia Broadcasting system in Chicago. A leading radio actor before the war, Pat is now an independent producer. He co-produces Jack Armstrong, chain serial program for youngsters.

Bob, a 1935 graduate of St. Mary's high school in Bismarck, announced first for WDAY, Fargo, and then KSTP. In 1941 he became a staff announcer with NBC in Chicago. He is now a free-lance announcer. He announces Bing Crosby's show when it does not originate in Hollywood. A 1942 graduate of St. Mary's high school here, Pat has been a staff announcer for KFYR for more than four years, and is best-known in North Dakota for his broadcasts of state high school basketball tournaments.

Still actively snipping hair at 70, the father of this microphone trio has become so accustomed in 19 years to announcers named Murphy that he doesn't tune in as conscientiously as he used to. In fact, the radio in his shop needs fixing.

College All-Stars Rehearse Tonight At Soldier Field

Chicago, Aug. 18 (AP)—The college All-Stars, with a captain bench-bound by injury, tonight will cavort in mammoth Soldier Field in a dress rehearsal for Friday night's clash with the champion Chicago Cardinals of the National football league.

The Collegians yesterday elected halfback Rupp Elliott of Michigan as their leader in the 15th annual spectacle which will pack some 100,000 fans into the lake front stadium.

Elliott's mates made him captain, knowing that the brilliant Wolverine suffered a twisted knee in last Saturday's intra-squad game at Dyche stadium and may see little or no action against the Cards.

Speed King
Salt Lake City—John Cobb, Britisher, holds the world auto speed mark with 334.196 mph.

U. P. CHAMPION—Ray Hirm, 18 year old Escanaba golfer, won the Upper Peninsula golf championship at Ishpeming last weekend, defeating Bruce Christensen, 19, Menominee, in the finals. Hirm won the finals, 4 and 2, clinching a hard fought climb through a star-studded field in the championship tournament. Ray is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ed. Hirm, 1121 Fifth avenue south.

Thousands Pay Last Tribute To Bambino

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

New York, Aug. 18 (AP)—Babe Ruth's body lay in state today at Yankee Stadium, where 50,000 persons yesterday filed past his candle-lighted bier.

Countless more thousands were expected to visit the "House That Ruth Built" to pay final tribute to Baseball's idol.

Gates of the stadium will be open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. (EST) today for the public to view the Babe, whose coffin lies in the flower-banked rotunda.

A police guard of honor stood through the night after the gates closed behind the last of the estimated throng of 50,000, many of whom were in tears, who came for a last look at the Babe who died Monday night of cancer.

It was nearly midnight before the last of the mourners had viewed the casket.

Most of the crowd waited in line for almost two hours for a final glimpse of the man who always made spectacular drama out of a ball game.

At times, the line of mourners—standing five abreast—completely surrounded the huge park.

Except for the solemnity of the crowd, the scene could have been a flashback to the days when the Babe was packing them in. The youngsters and oldsters that came to see him in death were the same kind of people who jammed the bleachers to see him swat a homer into the rightfield stands—"Ruthville."

There was the same stream of human beings pouring out of the subway stations and converging on the stadium, the same mounted and foot policemen controlling the lines, the same working men in shirt sleeves, the schoolboys in their skull-caps, the old timers, the housewives and the hotdogs sizzling on a grill under the elevated.

But though the setting was the same, the mood was not.

Some sobbed openly as they walked past the body of the man who, more than any other, symbolized America's national sport.

Many had tears in their eyes, and others paused briefly to kneel and pray.

Last in the line last night was Bill Robinson, 70-year-old Negro dancer and long-time friend of Ruth. Robinson gazed silently at the former Yankee star for a moment, then took off his glasses and wiped them as he walked away. It was the second time Robinson had passed the casket during the night.

As police were preparing to close the doors to the stadium lobby, 200 more men and women arrived. They explained they were unable to reach the stadium earlier because of night jobs.

On instructions from Ruth's widow, Claire, the casket was reopened and they filed past.

Then the lights were dimmed, leaving the room shadowy. Flickering candlelight played against the rotunda's massive pillars. The backdrop of potted palms and floral arrangements, a crucifix and beyond that, a big picture of the Babe making a home-run wallop.

Ruth's body was taken to the stadium late in the afternoon in a hearse, escorted by two motorcycle patrolmen. A small crowd already had gathered.

Atop the casket as it was carried inside was a single wreath of roses, with a plain card on which was written:

"All my love to Pop—Dot."

The signature was that of Mrs. Dorothy Flanders, one of Ruth's adopted daughters.

Roman Catholic funeral services for the one-time Yankee slugger will be at 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow with a solemn high requiem mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue. He will be buried in Gate of Heaven cemetery, Westchester County, N. Y.

Henrich Delivers 4th Grand Slam

By Joe Reichler

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy Henrich, "Mr. Old Reliable" of the New York Yankees, earned a space in the little red book of baseball today by smashing his fourth grand slam home run of the season.

Only five other players have hit four bases-loaded wallops during one campaign. They were Frank Schulte, Chicago Cubs, 1911; the one and only Babe Ruth, Boston Red Sox, 1919; Lou Gehrig, Yankees, 1938; Rudy York, Detroit Tigers, 1938; and Vince Di Maggio, Philadelphia Phils, 1945.

Henrich's fourth last night helped the Yankees defeat the Washington Senators, 8-1, at Griffith stadium. The blow came in the third inning off Lanky Sid Hudson and paved the way for young Bob Porterfield's first major league victory. The recruit from Newark, making his third big league start would have had a shutout but for Sherry Robertson's home run in the eighth.

The Yankee victory put a dent in ceremonies honoring Washington Owner Clark Griffith. Among the dignitaries and capitol officials present was President Truman, who sat through the entire game.

Despite the triumph, the Yankees remained in fourth place, five full games back of the league leading Cleveland Indians. Cleveland defeated the Browns, 8-0, in Cleveland.

Lefty Gene Bearden pitched the Indians to their sixth straight triumph, holding the Browns hitless until the fifth inning and allowing only four hits the rest of the way. The Indians blasted starter Bill Kennedy, a former Indian, from the mound with six runs in the fifth.

The triumph put the Indians two full games ahead of the second place Philadelphia Athletics and three above Boston. The latter two teams were rained out after the A's had taken a 2-0 lead in only an inning and a half of play.

Rookie Ted Gray won his third straight game in as many starts as the Detroit Tigers staved off a late Chicago rally to turn back the White Sox, 6-4. Gray needed help from Virgil Trucks and Stubby Overmire when the White Sox rose up for three runs.

The Boston Braves held their two-game edge on the Brooklyn Dodgers in the tight National league race, scalping the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds, 10-2.
